Should your hair removal consultation decision become laser hair removal, a test spot will be provided. During your treatment you will feel cool air being passed along the skin and within that cool air a quick sensation which is the laser sending a low-energy beam through the skin where it is absorbed by the dark pigment present in the shaft of the hair follicle. A treatment program will be developed, typically 4-8 weeks apart, depending upon the area being treated. Each treatment will result in a hair growth reduction and your desire to be hair-free will begin. After just one laser treatment you will begin to feel confident and uplifted.

Laser works best on dark hairs and is perfect for large areas of hair removal. The most popular areas for laser hair removal are underarms, bikini, legs, chests and back. Just imagine being free from those ingrown hairs, not having to shave or wax, no stubble—amazing.

Should your hair removal consultation decision be electrolysis, each hair is treated individually by utilizing a very fine probe, inserted into the natural opening of the skin, distributing an appropriate amount of energy and disabling the follicle's ability to produce hair. The number of treatments required will vary from person to person. Factors such as the extent of growth, size of area to be treated, previous methods of hair removal and other factors will determine the treatment schedule perfect for you. As with all services provided at Bodicures, sanitation and sterilization procedures are adhered to at all times.

Electrolysis effectively treats any hair color and is perfect for facial work and eyebrow shaping. Imagine never picking up a tweezer again to shape your brows, or anywhere else for that matter.
